Summary of Legislation: This bill provides that the state is the sole regulator of the trapping of wild animals in Indiana. It prohibits a unit of local government from regulating the trapping of wild animals in any way, except for the trapping of wild animals on or in land, buildings, or other real property that is owned by the unit of local government. The bill prohibits a unit of local government from regulating in any way the ownership, possession, sale, transfer, or transportation of a captor while Indiana is on the list of states meeting federal falconry standards maintained under 50 CFR 21.29(k), except for the regulation of raptors on or in land, buildings, or other real property (other than a highway or public highway) that is owned by a unit of local government. (The introduced version of this bill was prepared by the Natural Resources Study Committee.)

Effective Date: July 1, 2001.
